

School of Social Work
Leadership for a just and caring society

Research in Progress...

A Series of Informal Discussions of New Research in Social Work

Date: Thursday, April 16, 2009

Time: Noon to 1:00pm

Place: 5 Peters Hall, St. Paul Campus, University of Minnesota

Cost: Free, CEU certificate upon request

Victim Offender Mediation:

Does it Supplement or Substitute for the Criminal Justice Process?

Featuring:

Dr. Uri Yanay

School of Social Work, Hebrew University of Jerusalem

After committing a crime, in some cases, Victim Offender Conferencing (and mediation) can replace the legal process and in some cases supplement it. Yanay will highlight four different points of such interface based on research conducted in Israeli Juvenile Probation Services. Yanay's research has, in recent years, focused on social policy and services designed for victims of crime and terrorism.

For more information contact:

Prof. Jeffrey Edleson

School of Social Work

(612) 624-8795

jedleson@umn.edu

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
Driven to DiscoverSM