College of Education + Human Development

THE CE+HD ADVANTAGE Our students take many paths through our College, but they are all committed to one vision: a better future.

Ongoing education is vital to the success of individuals, businesses, and organizations. As a human resource development major, you'll gain the skills you need to offer critical workplace training and development, to manage effectively, and to communicate successfully. This degree is great preparation for working in human resources, directing a nonprofit, or coaching adults in career and life skills. It's a personalized program that gives you transferable skills. It's a career-oriented program with roots in understanding human relations. Above all, it's a program for leaders—a program for you.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Learning abroad opportunities, such as studying organization and management in South Africa
Internship allows you to gain professional experience
Prime location in the center of the Twin Cities—a rich source of internship and job opportunities
A highly rated program with excellent job placement

CAREERS WITH MEANING

Potential employers include:

Government agencies      Business-training facilities
Career-coaching businesses      Labor unions
Staffing agencies

This program also prepares students for advanced degrees in human resource development, business, management, communications, adult education, and more.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Foundation courses, such as public speaking, economics, psychology, and professional writing
Supporting program courses—you choose! Build a thematic or programmatic sub plan based on your interests. Samples include management, international education, ethical perspectives, or communication.
Major courses, including training and development, strategies for teaching adults, supervisory management, and an internship
