College of Education + Human Development

THE CE+HD ADVANTAGE Our students take many paths through our College, but they are all committed to one vision: a better future.

If you are passionate about improving young lives, we will give you the knowledge and resources you need. You'll learn how to work with young people from every walk of life, including urban settings and diverse communities. Develop skills that will help them build confidence and interest in their world. You won't just learn in the classroom—you'll be active in the community. As a youth studies major, you can start making a difference the moment you get to campus.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Internships, service learning, and visits to community centers offer real-world interaction with youth

Learning abroad opportunities that relate to your major, such as a study of youth culture in Tunisia

One-on-one mentor partnerships with a community leader or a University faculty or staff member

Undergraduate research opportunities—studying the impact of after-school music programs on children, for example

Highly engaged, knowledgeable, and diverse faculty

CAREERS WITH MEANING

Potential employers include:

Boys &amp; Girls Clubs	Juvenile justice facilities
Parks and recreation departments	Schools
	YMCA and YWCAs

This program also prepares students for advanced degrees in youth-development leadership, public policy, social work, community and learning, and more.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Foundation courses, such as sociology, psychology, and statistics

Major courses, including urban youth, experiential learning, youth development, research methods, and an applied internship

Professional core courses, such as international youth work, youth policy, community building, media and youth, and more

SEE YOURSELF HERE

The College of Education and Human Development offers a unique blend of classroom learning and real-world experiences. We prepare students to make a difference in the lives of individuals, families, and communities.
