Dear Graduate,

Congratulations on your accomplishments!

I wish we could be together in person to celebrate this significant milestone. While we are deeply missing the communal experience of a physical gathering and all the rituals that accompany it, I encourage you to mark your commencement with rituals that are meaningful to you. Reflect on your time at CEHD and who made a difference in your life—and who you impacted. How can you best pay tribute to those who supported you? How will they share in your celebration? How will you reward yourself for your hard-earned achievements?

Not only do you have the knowledge and skills to be successful in your next chapter, you have friends and memories to treasure for a lifetime. Think back to your first days at CEHD and compare them to now. You’ve learned and done so much; you should be proud of all you’ve accomplished.

It is not an exaggeration, however, to say that the last year has not been easy for anyone. And being a student during the turmoil of a global pandemic and overdue conversations on racial injustices was particularly difficult. Because of your vigilance and hope, you are moving ahead, ready to take on the challenges yet to come.

CEHD is proud of you. I particularly am excited to see how you make a difference as a member of CEHD alumni. And don’t consider this a farewell. We look forward to continuing our relationship with you as a lifelong member of CEHD and the University of Minnesota community. Please stay in touch and connect with us through social media and future college events.

Best wishes for the future,

Michael C. Rodriguez

Biographical Information
Michael C. Rodriguez
Michael C. Rodriguez, PhD, is the interim dean of the College of Education and Human Development and the Campbell Leadership Chair in Education and Human Development and a professor of educational psychology. He is a fifth-generation Minnesotan and first-generation college graduate, who received his BA from the Morris campus. His research focuses on understanding the psychometric properties of tests—for example, the use of constructed-response versus multiple-choice items. Rodriguez works with school districts to develop methods for improving their use of large-scale test information to improve practices and policies. In addition, he is dedicated to improving the accessibility of assessments of students with disabilities and multilingual learners. Rodriguez leads the Minnesota Youth Development Research Group which helps school districts make use of the Minnesota Student Survey, reporting on positive youth development and social and emotional learning. Rodriguez provides advisory support and leadership to several national organizations, including the National Board of Professional Teaching Standards, National Assessment of Educational Progress, U.S. Department of Defense on military personnel testing, Association of American Medical Colleges, and National Council on Measurement in Education.

Joan T.A. Gabel
Joan T.A. Gabel is the 17th president of the University of Minnesota, overseeing the nation’s 6th largest University, including over 68,000 students, 27,000 faculty/staff, and an overall $4.2 billion budget. She stewarded the University’s new systemwide strategic plan, MPact 2025, emphasizing student success, innovation, equity, and fiscal stewardship. Under her leadership, the University surpassed $1 billion in annual research expenditures; elevated into the top one percent of patent-producing universities; achieved a record-setting year in private philanthropy; deepened its work to build a more equitable and just community; and initiated an innovative approach to keep students, faculty, and staff safe during the COVID-19 pandemic.
Heather Mueller

As Minnesota’s Education Commissioner, Heather Mueller, EdD, heads an agency of more than 450 employees, charged with the mission of improving educational achievement for children from pre-K through grade 12, adult education, and library services. Mueller works closely with Governor Tim Walz to promote a wide variety of education policies and initiatives focused on closing the achievement gap, supporting high-quality teaching, using innovative strategies to improve educational outcomes, and ensuring all students graduate from high school well-prepared for college, career, and life. Prior to her appointment as commissioner, Mueller served as the department’s senior director of teaching and learning, assistant commissioner, and deputy commissioner. Mueller started her career at Mankato Area Public Schools in August 1997, teaching social studies. During her time at Mankato, she worked as a continuous improvement coach, professional development coordinator, and the director of teaching and learning. She earned her doctor of education in leadership degree from St. Mary’s University. She earned her specialist and K-12 administrative license, master’s degree in educational leadership, and bachelor’s degree in social studies from Minnesota State University, Mankato.

Kendall J. Powell

Ken Powell is the former chairman and chief executive officer of General Mills, where he served in a variety of positions since 1979. Powell spent more than a third of his career overseas. He serves on the board of directors for Medtronic, the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, and Partners in Food Solutions, a nonprofit organization dedicated to helping start-up food companies in Africa. Powell received a bachelor of arts degree in biology from Harvard and an MBA from Stanford University. Powell lives in Golden Valley and his wife and two adult daughters all are proud to have degrees from the University of Minnesota.

Dora Ogunkanbi

Dora Ogunkanbi is graduating with a bachelor of science degree in family social science and a minor in African American Studies. While a student, she studied abroad in London and plans to continue her education in the fall by pursuing a master’s of social work degree in London.
Special Announcements

The University of Minnesota Twin Cities is built within the traditional homelands of the Dakota people. Minnesota comes from the Dakota name for this region, Mni Sota Makoce—the land where the waters reflect the skies. The Circle of Indigenous Nations at the University of Minnesota recognizes the original peoples of this place and makes ongoing efforts to educate the campus community about the ongoing relationship that Dakota people have to this area.

Bachelor of Science (BS) Degree Candidates

In the following pages, undergraduate candidates’ are listed in alphabetical order followed by their major, minor(s) or second major, and award designation. College of Education and Human Development degree candidates may graduate with either Latin Honors (Cum, Magna, or Summa Cum Laude) or with distinction (Distinction or High Distinction) or both. These citations are provisional and do not become official until all requirements for the award are fulfilled.

Latin Honors Designations—Students graduating from the College of Education and Human Development through the University Honors Program have taken part in a rigorous course of study, research, scholarship, or other creative work in their major, culminating in an honors thesis representing independent work done under the direction of a faculty supervisor or mentor. Students graduating Cum Laude (with honor) have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.50 for the last 60 graded credits at the University of Minnesota, Twin Cities (UMTC). Magna Cum Laude (with great honor) awards require a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.66, and Summa Cum Laude (with highest honor) awards require a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.75 in the final 60 graded credits at UMTC.

Distinction Designations—Students earn graduation “with distinction” or “with high distinction” based on cumulative grade point average at UMTC with at least 60 graded credits completed at UMTC. Students graduating “with distinction” must have earned a cumulative GPA of 3.75 or higher in UMTC coursework at the time of graduation; students graduating “with high distinction” must have earned a cumulative GPA of 3.90 or higher in UMTC coursework at the time of graduation.
